Coronavirus – how can we support each other?

Hello all! In the face of the Coronavirus and in the spirit of collaboration and community, we would like to open a space for members of school communities worldwide to come together and share how schools are handling the situation. It is our hope that we can support and learn from each other and explore the opportunities this situation presents for global and digital learning. We invite you to share and brainstorm together what is being done, what questions or concerns are out there and how Educate Magis could possibly support schools at this time. We look forward to hearing your thoughts and comments!
